

A letter to Family & Friends

Dear family and friends,

In case you didn't know, our family no longer celebrates Christmas. This may come as a surprise to some. However, after much prayer and consideration, we have come to the conclusion that Christmas truly doesn't represent our savior as first thought. We understand this may sound odd to some and can even be a topic of debate for others. We simply believe this is the direction our Heavenly Father has for us in our walk with Him.

Please know that while we may differ with your view for this holiday, we respect your view and ask that you do the same for us. If ever you should want to discuss this topic with us, we would be happy to share our reasons why. We still believe that Jesus/ Yeshua came into the world as many celebrate this day for. We simply struggle with the timing and the many traditions that have been added to this celebration.

With love and respect,
